Crist Old English for Christ, is the title given to a triad of Old English religious poems in the Exeter Book comprising a total of 1664 lines and dealing with Christ’s Advent, Ascension and Last Judgment. It was originally thought to be one piece completed by a single author, but the poem is now broken up into three parts: Christ II also Christ B, a poem written by the Anglo-Saxon poet Cynewulf on the Advent, a poem bearing the runic signature of the poet Cynewulf, and a poem on the Last Judgment. The three poems are quite different from one another and are, as far as we know, A Topical Survey of English Literature - Google Books Result
